Dear History of Art and Architecture Student,

The History of Art and Architecture Department is now accepting applications for the Howard C. Fenton Fellowship. This fellowship is intended to support students interested in pursuing advanced and original research in the fields of art and architectural history. The Fellowship awards are dependent upon the applicant's proposal and projected costs, from $250 up to $1,000. Multiple awards may be granted depending on the availability of funds and the quality of applications. Priority will be given to students who intend to complete an Honors Thesis project with a faculty advisor.

In order to apply, students must complete the Howard C. Fenton Fellowship application, attached here, and return it with a 300-500 word essay explaining the focus of their research and their intended use of the funds. Funds may be used to defray travel expenses, lodging and transportation, photocopies and related research expenses, where applicable. Funds cannot be used for the purchase of cameras, computers, books, tuition, and fees related to enrollment at UCSB.

Eligibility is limited to History of Art & Architecture majors (including students in an emphasis program) who are part of the class of 2021 or 2022.

Deadline for applications: Friday, May 28th, at 4 p.m.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact the undergraduate advisors at ug-arthi@ucsb.edu.

Sincerely,
